REMEMBER

*Remember me when I am gone away,
Gone far away into the silent land;
When you can no more hold me by the hand,
Nor I half turn to go, yet turning stay.
Remember me when no more, day by day,
You tell me of our future that you planned:
Only remember me; you understand
It will be late to counsel then or pray.
Yet if you should forget me for a while
And afterwards remember, do not grieve:
For if the darkness and corruption leave
A vestige of the thoughts that once I had,
Better by far you should forget and smile
Than that you should remember and be sad.*

"Give me a break."

"Mirror, mirror, on the wall . . ."

"A one, and a two . . ."

"You didn't do your homework?!"

The mystery of teachers pretty much disappears by high school. Most of the kids have found out that we have similar lives, contend with our mothers, swear, go to the bathroom, and on occasion even have a drink. This is quite a revelation for students, as they see teachers in a certain setting, a certain time space, in certain garb. Discovering that an educator is a real person who exists outside of school is quite a blow to normality.

By the same token, it's hard for us to recognize students as individuals and not "one of the seventh period punks." And, what's even more unbelievable is that they're all interesting people. Why, in one class we might have one in the army, a sixteen year old mother, someone inheriting daddy's prosperous business, another leaving to vagabond Europe.

These students are making decisions as important as any we've made, and this is hard to conceptualize. However, they still need educating; we're not talking about forgotten dates, dry statistics or formulas. We strive to educate the person, not the computer. If a student comes out of our class more accepting, less prejudiced, and with a broader view of the world around him, then we've done our job. Now, go do your homework.

"Where's the beef?"

Under-the-table operations.

It's such a long hall. It's such a big school. How do they all know where to go? How will I survive? Well, actually, it's not like I can't see the end. It's more of a tiresome walk than anything else. At least we all know where we're heading; we're heading towards that door at the end of this hall. I have my eyes fixed on it and so does everyone else. It seems so close, but there are people in my way and I just can't reach it. Here I am. I've come to the end. Where do I go from here? Which way do I turn? There are so many corridors calling me. They all look so long and unfamiliar. If only this one hadn't been so short . . .

The Apponequet French Club is an organization through which students can learn both the language and the customs of French-speaking countries throughout the world. The group sponsors scholarships and hosts French-style parties and events, all of which are in the fashion of French culture. The purpose of the Apponequet French Club is to show the students a mode of life different from our own, and to allow them to experience various aspects of a foreign culture.

The National Honor Society is an organization which promotes scholastic as well as community involvement. The Apponequet Chapter of the National Honor Society holds annual drives for Oxfam, tutors underclassmen and gives scholarships to deserving students. The Honor Society demands high academic performance but also places much emphasis on involvement in outside activities and in extra-curricular ventures. The Honor Society urges all of its members to become involved in their community and to achieve academic excellence.

Student Voices is more than just a high school newspaper; it is an organization working for the free and creative expression of all Apponequet. S.V. features articles, poems, editorials and drawings. It is an outlet for both frustrations and joys of the students and staff of A.H.S. Nineteen eighty-five marks the advent of our first literary magazine as well, designed especially for essays poetry and art. In short, S.V. serves as a reminder of all the feelings and happenings of Apponequet society.

Stimulus is an organization of high school students and teachers that is devoted to providing cultural enrichment programs of all types for our school and community. Our goal is to stimulate the POSITIVE ENERGIES in ourselves and others, thereby "rising above" the negative circumstances that are contrary to the human imagination. Our goal is to create NETWORK SYSTEMS that will stimulate the flow of creative energy.

We hope to "link up" with other organizations and people who share our philosophy of "rise above it." We hope to sound a chord in the minds and hearts of our "friends in spirit" who feel that it is time for action—that it is time to take responsibility for the quality of life, not only in our schools, but in our communities and our world.

“THANKS!”

This page is dedicated to all the advisers of the various clubs and organizations of Apponequet High. For all the time you've given, sacrifices you've made, and headaches you've endured, we, the students, would like to express our deepest gratitude. Without you, our stay here at Apponequet would not have been complete.

england

Britain. Centuries of history made on a single island. Churchill's inspiring words still echo through the houses of Parliament; a stroll down the Mall conjures images of Queen Victoria and the splendor of her England; the Roman legacy of Bath lives on. Even to a group of travelers from "the colonies" England is an empire eternal. Though her political sovereignty may wane, her pride still endures.

italy

*Italia. Seven days of bongiorno. Seven lunches of half-cooked pasta. Seven nights of freezing wind and lectures
on the fall of the Caesars.
Walking the Seven Hills of Rome. Walking the forum eating Spumoni, the
medicis and discos, Venecian glass and cappucino. Museums,
marble, and Michelangelo.
Gothic, grazie, and gondolas. The poshest villas
next to the oldest ruins.
Magnificence now memories. Arrivederci.*

Rehearsal for Murder

Adapted by D. D. BROOKE from the teleplay by RICHARD LEVINSON &
WILLIAM LINK

This years dramatic performance was a thrilling murder mystery. As the characters started the play, startling connections to the murder began to reveal themselves. The dialogue was designed to trap the unexpected murderer, who was caught off guard by a series of play-acting scenes portrayed by the other performers. Once again, The Apponequet Players have proved themselves in this outstanding performance. Congratulations to the cast of "Rehearsal for Murder." "GOOD LUCK SENIORS!"
